

NAB PETITION 04-160

Government should not dictate which companies may provide legal content and services to thier customers. Satellite radio should be able to broadcast the same programming as over-the-air broadcasters, if they choose.

Services and choices for customers improve as technology and competition improves. It would be myopic of the government to prevent change, competition, and innovation fostered by American businesses. History has proven this a thousand times over.

If I were a member of the NAB, I'd protest too, putting my own selfish interest before the best interests of American consumers.
